Lately Publiſhed,

In one vol. 8 vo. (price one dollar in boards) ſold by WILLIAM YOUNG, corner of Second and Cheſnut ſtreets,

A Collection of Papers on the ſubject of Billious Fevers, prevalent in the United States for a few years paſt.

Compiled by NOAH WEBSTER, jun.

Containing letters from Doctors Seaman, Smith, Buel, Taylor, Ramſay, Monſon, Reynolds, Mitchell, on contagion, &c. &c.

Sept. 15.

The printers in the United States are requested to insert the following Observations in their papers, by which the public will be served, as well as their obedient servant.

B. LINCOLN, Superintendant of Light-Houses, State of Maſſachuſetts.

BY order of the United States, a Light Houſe has been erected at the Clay Ponds, on Cape Cod; the lamps in which are to be lighted on the 15th inſt. The light houſe is erected on land elevated about 150 feet, which with the elevation of the Lantern makes the whole heighth 200 feet above high water mark. In order that this Light may be diſtinguiſhed from the Boſton and other Lights on our coaſt, an Eclipſer is erected, which will revolve around the Lamps once in 80 ſeconds ſo that the light will be nearly excluded from the eye of the approaching mariner about thirty ſeconds, in one revolution of the eclipſer. To render the benevolent deſigns of Congreſs as extenſively uſeful as poſſible, the Marine Society in Boſton, by a large Committee from their body, whoſe views have been ſeconded by others, have taken ſuch diſtances and bearings as they thought neceſſary; which obſervations giving light and ſafety are added for the benefit of all intereſted—and are as follows——

Veſſels outward bound, from Boſton Light-houſe, and would wiſh to fall in with Cape-Cod the courſe is E. S. E. diſtance 15 leagues, thence 3 leagues to the Light houſe. When up with the Light-houſe and it bears S W 2 leagues diſtance, you then ſteer S S E which will carry you out of the ſouth channel.

Veſſels inward bound, and fall in with the back of Cape-Cod, bring the Light to bear S W 2 leagues diſtance, then you may ſteer WNW for Boſton Light-Houſe.

If you you would wiſh to go into Cape Cod harbor, you may keep the ſhore aboard about a mile diſtant, where you will have 10 fathoms water. There is a bar lies off the back of the Cape, about half a mile from the ſhore.

When up with Race-point, which is very bold, and about three leagues to the weſtward of the Light-houſe, and may be known by a number of fiſh houſes on it, from 1 to 3 miles to the ſouthward of Race-point, is what is called Herring Cove, where you may have good anchoring half a mile from the ſhore, the wind from E to N N E in 4 or even 3 fathom water.

If bound into Cape Cod harbor, your courſe from Race-point to Wood end, is S S E 6 miles diſtance, bring the light to bear E by N and run for it about two miles, you will then be clear of Wood end—then you muſt ſteer N E until the light bears E by S—then run N W for the harbor, until you have from 4 to 5 1-2 fathoms water, where you have good anchoring, the Light then will bear E by S 1-2 S 5 or 6 miles diſtance.

In running from the Race point to Wood End—after you paſs the Black Land or Hummucks, you will come up with a low ſandy beach, which forms the harbor; extending between 2 and 3 miles to Wood-end, which is difficult to be diſtinguiſhed in the night—It is very bold—you will have 25 fathom water within half a mile of the ſhore.

In beating into Cape-Cod harbor, you muſt keep the eaſtern ſhore aboard, until you get into 5 fathom water. Stand no farther to the weſtward than to bring the light to bear E by S as there is a long ſpit of ſand runs off from the weſtern ſhore, which being very bold, you will have 11 fathom water within a ſtones threw of ſhore.

In caſe it blows ſo hard that you cannot beat in the harbor, you will have good anchoring without, from 10 to 15 fathom water.

Veſſels in Boſton bay and would wiſh to put away for Cape Cod harbor, muſt endeavor to fall in with the Race. If in the night, and you cannot ſee the land, you muſt bring the Light to bear E by N and run for it until you have ſoundings in 14 or 15 fathom water, then ſteer north eaſt until the light bears E by S then run in N W for the harbor.

At full and change, it is high water off Race Point at 10 o'clock and 45 minutes. Veſſels in leaving Cape Cod bound to Boſton, ſhould calculate the tide, as the flood ſets ſtrong to the ſouth weſt.

FOREIGN INTELLIGENCE.

VENICE, Auguſt 4.

The citizens of the national guard here are very jealous and diſſatisfied with the troops of 1600 men from the Ciſalpine Republic, who were ſent here to maintain tranquility. They have declared to the municipality, that if theſe troops are not removed they will diſband. Orders on the ſubject are expected from General Buonaparte. A part of the French garriſon here is ſlowly withdrawing. The contributions for the maintenance of the French troops, and the adminiſtration of public affairs, amount daily to 14,000 ducats. The zealous democrat Dandolo, has requeſted his diſmiſſion from the municipality, becauſe ſome of his propoſitions have not been immediately decreed. In the neighbourhood of Vicenza, ſeveral of the communes have rejected the new conſtitution, and required the old Venetian conſtitution to be reſtored, under which they ſay, they enjoyed more peace and happineſs; 3000 French have, in conſequence, marched into that vicinity from Vicenza, and 4000 from Baſſano. The inhabitants at firſt took arms, and ſome ſeyere ſkirmiſhes took place, in which many were killed on both ſides; but at length, they were obliged to ſubmit to ſuperior force.

Buonaparte has erected a new adminiſtration for the vicinity of Mantua.

The French raiſe 75,000 livres per month in this part of the country.

The municipality of Ancona has taken poſſeſſion of all the convents in that city, and their revenues.

The report is revived, that Buonaparte will make himſelf the head of the Ciſalpine republic. He was on the 5th inſt. preparing to ſet out from Milan for Udine.

PARIS, September 9.

Proclamation of the Executive Directory to the French people.

Citizens—the French people have in the firſt inſtance, committed the depoſit of their conſtitution to the fidelity of the Legiſlative body, and of the executive power. The ſafety and integrity of this ſacred depoſit have been threatened by a conſpiracy of royaliſts, ſlowly and maturely organized, carried on with craft and dexterity, and followed up and purſued with perſeverance. The Directory have unveiled the plot; the conſpirators have been ſeized, and the legiſlative body have inſtantly adopted the meaſures which the urgent nature of circumſtances has required. No blood has been ſhed, wiſdom preſided over the operation of the armed force, and courage and diſcipline directed its exertions. The national juſtice has been avowed and conſecrated by the peaceable deportment of the people; it was made evident to the public, that there was no deſign of deranging the preſent poſture of things, but on the contrary, of putting every thing in its proper place. The legiſlative body, the executive directory, have faithfully fulfilled their duty. But the French people have alſo depoſited their Magna Charta in the hands of the adminiſtrators and judges: They have confided it to the vigilance, the enlightened vigilance of fathers of families, of mothers and of wives, and to the virtuous affections of youthful citizens; in a word, to the characteriſtic intrepidity which diſtinguiſhes Frenchmen. Adminiſtrators, judges, fathers of families, wives, mothers, and youthful citizens, Frenchmen of every age, of every profeſſion, have you complied with your oaths:—

Have you protected the depoſit entruſted to your hands? Look around you, Frenchmen! be watchful and obſerve (it is not too late) the ſnares into which the friends of kings and the enemies of France were eager to involve you. In order to curb you anew under the yoke you have broken, in order gradually, as though it were by your own impulſe, to ſubject you to it again, they have introduced into all the public offices, corrupted men, but men as crafty as they are perverſe; dextrous in converting into an engine hoſtile to the liberty of the people, the very power they had been armed with, in order to defend and confirm it. They poſſeſſed in your tribunals, prevaricating judges, who abuſed the very independence which the conſtitution had beſtowed on them, and who exerciſed their rights, only to ſcreen and protect the enemies of their country. Above all it was their prime object and moſt anxious care to recall France to the adoption of monarchical forms, and to make the conſtitution, the feſtes, the manners, and the uſages of the people, ponder and truckle to the views of deſpotiſm. They were well aware, that man was a creature of habit, and that by changing his habits, you changed his very eſſence. Monarchical forms coincided no doubt, and marvelouſly coincided with the views and wiſhes of the conſpirators, it was expedient and eſſential for them, to caſt anew in a royal mould, the maſs of the nation; but the nation repulſed the attempt with indignation and with horror. The republic has triumphed, and the triumph of republican forms ought to be blazoned and conſolidated: ſuch ſhould be the inſignia as well as the fruit of their victory. A republican ſpirit, a republican morality, republican uſages and inſtitutions, ought to be cheriſhed and prevail; but in order to comprehend and concentre them, they muſt be better underſtood, and for this we muſt begin by forming a more perfect idea of them. The republican ſpirit collects and embodies all our intereſts in the ſacred focus of the public good, and takes into its compoſition every thing that is juſt, equitable, good, and amiable among mankind. Among a people informed and inſpired by the divine ſpirit, juſtice preſides over their ſocial relations; no one attempts to injure the intereſts of another; the equality that prevails among them, calls for and ſecures reciprocal aſſiſtance; ſhould differences ariſe, the right of deciding on them is not a lucrative trade, that begets a deſire to protract a deciſion. Republican juſtice is the ſiſter of peace. The moſt lovely, the pureſt ſentiment of nature—reſpect for hoary age; conjugal endearment; paternal tenderneſs, and filial pity. Sentiments honoured in public are known to exert their ſoft influence within the boſom of private families, and derive from the ties of blood, bonds of fraternity, of mutual affection, and happineſs.—The arts offer up in homage to the public weal the treaſure of their agremens, and the pomp of their maſter-pieces—eloquence, poetry, muſic, all unite and conſpire to kindle in every heart the love of the country, and to reanimate the engines of valour. Courage and genius are the offſpring of liberty: The pencil, the chiſel, and the artful hand of the architect, erect monuments in her honour. The theatre reſounds with the oracles of morality, the ſacred maxims of philoſophers, and the incentive examples of public and private virtue. But the triumph of the fine arts is more eminently conſpicuous in the national feſtes, in theſe fraternal and popular ſolemnities, in theſe awful and affecting aſſemblies, where one ſentiment aſſimilates and moves the minds and hearts of an immenſe people: dread and impoſing ceremonies, which cannot be known in the palaces of kings, which chill with horror the partizans of deſpotiſm, but which warm with an invincible charm the breaſt of republicans. In a republic, every writer, every man of genius and letters is proud of the name of liberty, profeſſes its maxims, oppoſes to error, to fanaticiſm, and to falſhood, the lights of inſtruction and of knowledge; lends to the empire of the laws the ſupport of his talents, and invigorates their force by the ſupplement of his mental exertions. He explores the true principles of morality and of liberty; he diffuſes the love of them, and propagates their influence; he teaches his fellow citizens a more cordial love for each other, and above all the predominant love of their country. It is in a republican ſoil that public inſtruction muſt flouriſh; this is the vivifying ſource which, like a pure milk, circulates, and is diſtributed through all the ramifications of ſociety: Parents are eager to ſend their children to drink of and to be nouriſhed with it. Private inſtruction conſtantly accords with the public inſtruction; the one prepares and leads on to the other. Over both, the eye of the magiſtracy is vigilant, and the magiſtrates, on their ſide, whether by the public expoſition of the acts of government, or by their zeal in diffuſing the light of knowledge, or by their activity in promoting the celebration of republican games, and of national fetes, and above all by holding out the living example of their own conduct and morals—theſe magiſtrates are alſo the inſtructors and framers of the public mind. It is here, in a word, where there exiſts the moſt powerful ſpring, and the grand moving principle of laudable actions, and of courageous traits, that ſacred emulation which prompts the citizens to vie with each other in private virtue and public utility. The univerſal right to the chief offices of the ſtate is the firſt clauſe in the compact of equality. There is no diſtinction. There is no diſtinction of birth or privilege. Merit alone is honored: Imperious motive to elevate men to ſublime ſentiment and exalted enterprize! People of France, ſuch ought you to be! Such you would have already been, if your minds had been thoroughly impreſſed with the principles of your conſtitution—if you had not liſtened to thoſe who have viliſied the republican principle in order to re-eſtabliſh the yoke of prieſts and kings. Ah! ceaſe to give credit to them! Haſten to quit the path which they had marked out, and which can only lead you to diſgrace and ruin. You ought to be the model and the arbiter of nations. They wiſhed on the contrary to render you the contempt of mankind. See how they have deceived you! See whether the republic is the ſeat of terroriſm! The republic has triumphed, and yet the blood of traitors has been ſpared. No; it is not blood which cements republics. For the deſpotiſm of a ſingle man blood muſt be ſhed, but to found equality laws alone are required. It belongs to the conſtitution to be the guide of morals and the compaſs of life. Teach it then to your children. Get by heart and practice yourſelves the declaration of rights and of duties. Reſume with eagerneſs the republican cuſtoms which will diſtinguiſh you among other nations, and will render you the model of free ſtates. Renounce ſervile abuſes. Employ your own calendar, that accurate and convenient diviſion of time, which by an admirable feature in republican deſtinies reminds you that the ſun begins the year on the day when the republic began its career. As your days of reſt, conſtantly prefer thoſe which the law points out.—Let thoſe days not only bring back to you ſweet repoſe, the reward and the conſequence of labour, but let it produce innocent joy, let it produce family aſſociations, the peruſal of the laws, games, and entertainments. Let the rendezvous of commerce, the fairs, the markets, henceforth correſpond with the republican æra. All civil affairs ought to be regulated only by civil laws. Every uſurpation on the province of law ought to ceaſe in a republic. Take the name of citizen with honeſt pride. This glorious title has ſacred rights. Our fathers, in a deſpotic government, long envied the appellation. They regretted, they deplored that they were not citizens. Let that name be ever dear to you. Never employ any other, unleſs to expreſs contempt. Let the mouth of a free man never be ſullied by thoſe feudal qualities, thoſe ſhameful honours by which you were formerly degraded, and the moſt unaſſuming of which ought to rouſe your indignation, ſince it reminds you of ſlavery. Henceforth let the ſpirit of the nation form itſelf among, and riſe to the pinnacle of your ſublime deſtinies. Be the firſt of free nations, and let the name of French citizen be the moſt honourable of all appellations. Let taſte and neatneſs prevail in your dreſs. Let an amiable ſimplicity ever be cheriſhed; let the youth ſhun pomp and affectation; let them render it unneceſſary to tell them to lay aſide thoſe rallying marks, thoſe cuſtoms of revolt, which are the uniform of a hoſtile army; let beauty, gentle and modeſt, adorned with its modeſty, prefer in its ornaments thoſe which have been woven by French hands. Beware of intemperance, for it is one of the vices of ſlaves. Frugality is one of the virtues by which free nations are diſtinguiſhed. Be humane and ſympathizing. It is among a free people that humanity is to be found; it is only by deſpots that it is trodden under foot; the altar of pity is in the heart of every freeman. Call to mind the principles which your immortal Monteſquieu aſcribes to three governments. To deſpotiſm he aſſigns the foundation of terror. Honor is the phantom which walks in the train of Kings; but the baſis and the eſſence of republics is virtue. People of France! In this word recognize what your conſtitution, your government, your country now require from you. Do not allow others to ſay, and do not ſay yourſelves, that you are not republicans, becauſe virtue is the baſis of republics. Do not calumniate yourſelves, nor cauſe yourſelves to be calumniated. People of France! Be virtuous, love your conſtitution, your government, your country, and you will be republicans, and nothing will equal your glory and your happineſs. You ought to be attached to your government, as both the ſupreme authorities which you have inſtituted are attached to it. Let this great example impreſs your minds. The royaliſt conſpirators had diſunited theſe powers; and in breaking through this link, the key-ſtone of the ſocial arch, they had almoſt ſucceeded in the overthrowing the republic. Thanks to the deſtiny by which you are protected: the conſpirators are no more, neither in the directory, nor in the two councils. The councils and the directory at laſt go hand in hand, and the republic is ſaved.

LONDON, Sept. 15.

The following article we extract from the Revelateur, formerly called the Batave:—

"The adminiſtrators of the Department of Soane and Loire, diſmiſſed by the Government, had the impudence to impriſon the courier who brought them the diſpatches announcing their diſmiſſal; and it is ſaid that he recovered his liberty only by the energy of the republicans of Macon, who flew to arms, and did not quit them till their demands were complied with. The adminiſtrators of the Allier, ſupported by all the cut-throats they could collect, alſo commenced an inſurrection againſt the government."

"On the appointment of Merlin of Douai and Francois de Neufchateau to the directory, we hear that Gohier and Garat, both ex-miniſters, are named as candidates to replace the firſt as Miniſter of juſtice, and Ginguene to be miniſter of the interior. The directory are now employed in this appointment. It is believed Danou will be appointed to ſome important place—That of director of public inſtruction would perfectly ſuit him.

"Many emigrants of diſtinction have been arreſted; it is incredible the number of paſſports that the central office have iſſued."

From Hamburgh Papers received by the Aurora.

HAGUE, September 12.

The hotel of the French miniſter here has been illuminated on account of the new revolution which has taken place in France, and a general illumination is ſpoken of; for if this revolution had not happened, the royal party would have accompliſhed their deſigns, and the old order of things would alſo have been reſtored here.

Our troops have juſt been diſembarked from the fleet in the Texel.

September 16.

Twenty-one commiſſioners have been appointed to prepare the new conſtitution, ſix of whom are from the province of Holland, and the greater proportion are devoted to the revolutionary party. The choice of Preſident has fallen upon the repreſentative from Amſtel.

Yeſterday the Ciſalpine republic was mentioned for the firſt time in our convention. The directory expreſſed their wiſhes to be united by the bonds of friendſhip and brotherhood to the Batavian republic.

The troops diſembarked from the fleet in the Texel, are not returned into garriſon: they are cantoned in quarters. Four battalions are gone to Frieſland, and as many to Overyſſel. The reſt are gone into North Holland. The tranſport ſhips remain till further orders, in the Texel.

The miniſter Meyer has been recalled from France, on account of his being thought to favor the royaliſt party.

Orders have been given for all French emigrants to leave the republic.

General Hoche has intimated that there is a body of French emigrants and other diſaffected perſons, on our borders, of whom it is neceſſary to take ſome notice.

COLN, September 10.

A remarkable change has taken place here. The friends of revolution have had the upper hand, and have followed the example of the Ciſalpiners. The whole government, the treaſury and archieves, all in their hands. The conſequence has been, the ſolemn renunciation of all connection with the government of the empire. Intermediate commiſſioners and new municipalities are eſtabliſhed here, at Aachan, Trier and Coblentz, under the protection of the French republic, and under the name of the Cisrhenaniſh Republic (Republic on this ſide the Rhine) formally declared independent, and to it are annexed ſeveral ſmall adjoining diſtricts of territory on the Upper Rhine. Information of this change has been ſent to Paris, and general Hoche has been invited to proviſie them with a Proviſional Directory, till the people can be aſſembled to form a regular conſtitution.

The conſequence of this revolution cannot at preſent be eſtimated; it will doubtleſs give France new and important reſources.—One conſequence amongſt others, will be the confiſcation of the cloyſters, and the eſtates of the princes and of the clerical order, which make three fourths of the whole country.

September 17.

The plan of the French to republicanize the country on this side the Rhine every day developes itself. Yesterday at noon the independence of this place was publicly declared, and the tree of liberty planted. The ceremony was performed in the presence of the civil and military authorities. In several other places yesterday and the day before, the tree of liberry was also planted.

WETZLAR, September 17.

General Hoche lies here dangerously ill. Two doctors are expected from Paris to attend him. Several of the streets are covered with litter.—All is kept still, not even the stages or waggons are permitted to disturb him. General Lefevre commands the army of the Sambre and Meuse, in the interim.

VIENNA, Sep. 16.

It was to day reported here, that Peace had been concluded betwixt the Emperor and the French Republic; but this report is not officially announced. It is hoped, however, that a fortnight will determine the matter. Though much depends upon the event of the negociations at Lisle, as our Cabinet is closely bound with that of England: or there is little doubt that France would wish to conclude peace with us, and leave England to herself.

HAMBURGH, Sept. 26.

The ships which the Spaniards expected from south America and the Philippine Islands with upwards of 18 millions of piastres on board, are arrived at Teneriffe.

The English squadron, under command of Admiral Nelson, are put into Gibraltar to refit.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 10.

The greatest part of the city of Scutari has been destroyed by fire. It is not known how it broke out, but 3000 houses have been reduced to ashes.

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 16.

On Monday last a fire broke out in the town of Nyburg, which, owing to the wind being very strong at the time, consumed 141 houses, about one third part of the whole place. The lost is estimated at 100,000 rix dollars.

September 19.

The post of yesterday brought news that the pestilence was so violent in the island of Corsica, that orders are issued "That no ship from the Mediterranean sea shall be admitted into the river Elbe, without being first examined at Cuxhaven by the proper officer at Ritzbuttle, and permission obtained."

STOCKHOLM, Sept. 12.

On Sunday last the young king of Sweden was publicly betrothed to the Princess Frederica Van Baaden, which was accompanied with the rejoicings usual on such occasions.

UDINE, Sept. 6.

On the 1st inst. the first conference on the subject of Peace was held at Passeriano, betwixt the different belligerent Powers. It continued nearly six hours. On the 3d, General Buonaparte arrived here to assist at the negociation, and since then it has daily continued betwixt him, General Clark and the Austrian Minister. The Congress is held at the house of the Marquis of Gallo. The French military surround the place, and the fortifications continue to be replenished.

MILAN, Sept. 9.

The Government of Genoa, on the 4th inst. experienced a serious shock. The exclusion of the Priests and Nobility from the offices of State, which the new Constitution ordains, and the discharge of the old officers, occasioned a formidable tumult. The aristocratic party, which consisted of the chief citizens, had at first the advantage, and became masters of the city. But their triumphs did not continue long. The democrats united themselves, and were assisted by the French troops. A combat took place, in which upwards of 1000 men lost their lives. The French Ambassador, Faypoult, and the Corsican General, Cassabianca, it is said, were at the head of the democratic party. Since then, Genoa is surrounded by French troops.

FROM A PARIS PAPER.

The following account of the proceedings of the French Legislature respecting the proscription of certain Journalists, shews that they have been treated in a summary mode.

Permanent sitting of the 6th and 7th.

Bailleul prefaced the report by some observations on the conduct and principles of certain journalists, who, it is evident were in the interests of the fallen royalist conspiracy, either from congeniality of sentiment, or having been in their pay.

The project of decree which he proposed was as follows:

Art. I. The proprietors, undertakers, directors, authors, editors, and assistants of the journals of which the names follow (there were 54 on the list) shall be transported whither the directory shall direct.

II. Their property shall be sequestrated, and restored only when the authentic account shall be received of their arrival at the place of their destination.

III. The directory are authorized to afford them some provisional succour till they reach the place of their destination.

Several members, "The question."

Salicetti moved, that the directory should have the right of making domiciliary visits to seize the persons designated in the decree. After some trifling opposition this was carried.

Talot concluded his observations in favor of the motion, as follows:

"I have said it, I repeat it, we were placed between the gallows and the guillotine. Had our enemies triumphed, they would not have observed towards us all the forms which they themselves require; we all should have perished by the rope or at the block. Less cruel, we want no blood; but at least let us act in such a manner as that they shall not escape the punishment they have deserved."

Gaudin moved that the list of journals should be read over and the names considered one by one. Adopted.

The Journal du Soir was struck off the lists, Bailleul, the reporter, seconding the motion.

The word assistants was struck out of the first article of the decree as being too vague and general.

The Republican Francois was struck off the list. Then the Mercure.

The Journal des Spectacles was referred back to the committee for further examination.

Quirot wished the list confined to the most prominent journalists of the counter-revolutionary faction, and not to include all those who might weakly have sided with or copied from them occasionally.

Gaudin and Boulay supported this idea, and wished the whole list referred back, that a selection might be made. Negatived.

L'Historien, printed by Dupont de Nemours was next moved to be struck off the list.

Boulai contended, that though the journal had, at times contained some articles that proved the editor a friend to the fallen party, it had contained many articles, especially upon the clubs, the priests and the divisions among the different departments of the government of an excellent tendancy. He paid some compliments to Dupont's character, and pleaded his age. "Dupont," said he, "has contributed to disseminate information by his excellent work of the citizen's ephemerides; he has therefore contributed to bringing about the revolution."

Tallien stated the influence of this paper as very great; but represented the editor as a man whose talents had been employed in endeavouring to bring about the ancient regime, and who protested against the late events.

Chenier supported the views of Boulay. He agreed, that L'Historien often contained articles which gave pain to republicans; but often also very excelleot observations. He concluded by saying: "Without doubt you should have some consideration for his age, and for the friend of Turgot;—one who in the constitutional assembly constantly supported the cause of liberty." He hoped that this paper would at least be sent back to the committee. Agreed.

La Tribune Politique was moved to be struck out. Negatived.

We mention these details to shew, that the proscription list was not made without discussion or consideration.

Finally the list of proscribed journals remained as follows:

The Guardian of the constitution; the General Journal of France; that of the colonies; the Invariable; the Impartial, printed at Bruxelles; the Impartial Bruxellse; the Grondeur; the Universal Gazztte; the Gazette Francoise; the Europe Literaire; the Eclair; the Echo; the Dejeuner; the defender of old Institutions; the Public Voice or the Journal of the brothers and friends by Vasselin; the Republican Courier; the Extraordinary Courier; the Courier of Lyons; the Censor of Journals; the Aurora; the Anti-terrorist at Toulouse; the Public Accuser; the Acts of the Apostles, the Catholic annals; the Argus; the Veridique; the Public Tribune; the Tea; the Tableau of Paris; the Spectator of the North; the Rhapsodies; the Quotidienne, (the daily paper) the Precurser; the Postillion of the armies; the Petit Gautier; Perlet; the Observator of Europe at Rouen; the Nouvelles Politiques; the Mirror; the Messager du Soir the Remembrancer.

Names of the Journals placed on the list of proscription and either struck out, or sent back to the committee for reconsideration.

By this day's Mail.

NEW-YORK, November 20.

Yesterday arrived here, after a passage of 53 days from Falmouth, his Britannic Majesty's packet Carteret, capt. Taylor.

Though a failure of crops, in a degree, may have taken place in England, we have reason to believe, from a paragraph in a London paper of the 19th Sept, that it is not so great as might be imagined from several late publications. The paragraph runs thus: "It is with singular satisfaction we find, from almost all our corn counties, the most pleasing accounts respecting the gathering in of the corn harvest, notwithstanding the late wet and tempestuous weather; and that all hands, and every day, Sundays not excepted, are devoted to this useful work."

Mr. Vick, the messenger, went from London to Lisle on a thursday, and returned the succeeding sunday night.

The Duke of Hamilton, as lord lieutenant of the county of Lanerk, in Scotland, has issued an address, explanatory of the nature of the militia act, which has had the best effect in correcting the misrepresentations that had been maliciously made respecting it.

By the ship Betsey, capt. Phelps, arrived from Bristol, in 60 days.

OFFICE OF GENERAL POLICE.

Letter from the commissary of the Executive power at the central department of the Rhone, to the minister of police.

LYONS, Sept. 9.

The important events which have taken place at Paris, attract universal attention; they have not, however, troubled the commune of Lyons, and still less the department.—Curiosity and uneasiness occupy all minds. The most clear-sighted of the merchants and tradesmen already begin to entertain hopes of a change of affairs more favorable to their commercial interests. Malevolence is dismayed and terrified. Its agents a few days ago were much more active than at present. I shall be particular, citizen minister, at this critical period, in informing you of every thing which concerns general or individual safety.

(Signed) SOTTIN.

The commissioner of the Executive authority in the criminal tribunal of the department of L'Orne, to the minister of justice.

Alencon, 24 Fructidor, Sept. 11.

Citizen minister,

I am this instant informed, that at Sieez preparations had been made for the organization of the national guard; that uniforms with black collars were quite ready, and that the corps were about to be formed into divisions of chasseurs and grenadiers, under the title of Chasseurs and Grenadiers of Pichegru; that at Prenais, in the department of La Sarthe, uniforms had likewise been made, and the plan of insurrection had been entertained.

This proves that it was time to strike the conspirators.

How vast was the scheme of Pichegru! The law which he proposed and carried, was nothing more than one of the means to render the success of it more certain.

Upon this very day were the black collars to have been brot forward, and the satellites of Pichegru to have shewn themselves.

Happily these projects have been disconcerted. Health and Fraternity!

(Signed)
LEROYER LATOURNERIE.

An exact copy. For the minister of justice,
PLEVILLE LEPELEY,
minister of marine.

The Gazette.

PHILADELPHIA,

TUESDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 21.

MRS. ADAMS's Drawing Room will commence on Friday Evening, and be continued one a fortnight through the winter.

Capt. Beard, from Amsterdam, informs, that previous to his sailing, the commissioners from the United States to France, had arrived at the Hague, and proceeded to Paris about the 17th of September. The Dutch troops from the fleet were disembarked, and the British fleet still off the Texel.

Last evening arrived the ship Farmer, capt. M. Collom, from Bourdeaux, which place she left the 3d of October, and the Cordovan the 10th. We were not able to collect intelligence by this vessel further than the arrival at Paris of the American Commissioners.

Extract of a letter from Hamburgh, dated Sept. 19, 1797.

"The imperial minister received, yesterday, an official note, that orders had been given to release General La Fayette, and his companions. We have a right to expect that they are on their way to this place."

Some of the papers after announcing the marriage of Col. Humphreys, have added —and have set off for Madeira. It should be Madrid.

Wignell is about to open his theatre, with a renovated corps, which is said to be superior to any hitherto seen in America.

The partisans of the French triumviri, in this country, in justifying the recent prostration of the constitution, and their violation of every moral and social principle, have out done even the tyrants themselves. They have blasted the proscribed en masse, and denounced them as traitors, without a shadow of evidence, except the fabrications respecting Pichegru, which it is to be observed, affect no other individual amongst them.

The loss sustained by the republic, in the person of Carnot, cannot be too highly estimated. He was the soul of their whole military system—and introduced in particular, that mode of dividing the armies, to which the French owe their most brilliant successes. The division of an army into a centre and two wings was so modified by Carnot, that each division constituted a distinct and separate army, acting upon emergency, entirely independent and separately. Whoever will review the history of the last campaign cannot fail to observe the striking consequences of this arrangement.

Carnot was the friend and patron of Buonaparte; and that general declares, in a letter to the deposed director, noticing certain injurious reports respecting himself, that he esteems it the highest pleasure and pride of his life, to have been honored with the confidence and friendship of Carnot. It is not improbable that he may one day revenge the injuries of his benefactor.

A jacobin writer, whose performance appears in a paper printed at Elizabeth-Town, New-Jersey, makes the following remarks:

"Whilst some of our PSEUDO-PATRIOTS are criminating the conduct of the ruling powers in France, in banishing the traitors to the government without trial, it would be well for them to take a retrospective view of our own conduct during the revolutionary war with England, and not be so lavish in abusing others for what we have countenanced ourselves (for it is a foul bird that dirties its own nest) and see if imperious necessity did not propel us to acts as atrocious as their's, such as hanging men without trial, as the writer of this asserts was the case in some instances."

The writer of the above is called on to cite an instance of revolutionary phrenzy after the adoption of the constitution. At what time did our executive, in defiance of our constitution, call on the military to seize on the most influential characters in the senate and house of representatives, and compel as many of their brethren as were in custody, at the point of the bayonet to acquiesce in the transportation of their fellow-citizens, without trial? At what time were either of the free elections of the states collectively, or individually, anulled by a military mandate? At what time have the people of America been so lost to their rights and their honor, as to submit to such degradation as results from the late proceedings of the arbitrary and usurping triumvirate of France? As to the pretext that these 65 unfortunate men were royalists, it never will be believed; for if they were, they would have been tried as such, and surely 500,000 armed veterans who are at the call of the triumvirate were sufficient, to prevent their escape during trial. Freemen will remember that to justify such atrocities is to encourage the repetition.

STAGES.

THE public are requested to take notice, that the partnership which has for some time subsisted between Mathias Slough of Lancaster, and William Geer, is now dissolved: but, not as M. Slough insinuates to the public without just cause; as will more fully appear by a letter on the subject from M. Slough to W. Geer, dated the 29th December last. a recital of which is not now deemed necessary. Any gentleman who wishes to be more circumstantially informed of the merits of this business, by applying to W. Geer may have the perusal of M. Slough's letter, and then can be at full liberty to determine whether or not W. Geer is not perfectly justifiable in attaching himself to any other person in the prosecution of the Stage conveyance from Philadelphia to Shippensburg, or any other place.

Now from the liberal and generous support the public were pleased to confer on the first effort in this business, William Geer, in conjunction with Messrs. Reily, Weed and Witmer, is determined to prosecute and carry it on, with every care, attention and dispatch that a zeal to oblige the public can possibly exert.

The above company, who are amply provided with carriages, horses, and every appurtenance to render the passage safe and commodious, inform those who wish to patronize and encourage the undertaking, that they can take their seats at George Weed's, the sign of the White Horse, Market Street, Philadelphia, on every Monday and Friday, to proceed to Lancaster, Harrisburg, Carlisle and Shippensburg. The fare as hitherto established.

For the further accommodation of the public, a Stage will start every Wednesday from the house of Samuel Elder, in Harrisburg, arrive at Sunbury in Northumberland county, every Thursday, and return from thence and arrive at Harrisburg every Saturday, so that passengers destined for Lancaster or Philadelphia, may proceed on Mondays.

WILLIAM GEER.

Lancaster, Jan. 27, 1797.

N. B. This Line of Stages starts from the house of William Ferree, in Lancaster, on every Tuesday and Saturday morning at 6 o'clock, proceeding to the westward; and from the house of Mr. Samuel Elder in Harrisburg every Wednesday morning, on the same evening arrives at Patrick Cochran's in Shippensburg, and returns from thence on every Thursday: performing the same routine daily as in its tour from Philadelphia. mwf

N. B. To favour those who may take a quantity of Tickets, the prize of 40,000 dollars will be the LAST drawn ticket, and the 30,000 the LAST but ONE:

And approved notes, securing payment in either money or prizes, in ten days after drawing, will be received for any number not less than 30 tickets.

This Lottery will afford an elegant specimen of the private buildings to be erected in the City of Washington—Two beautiful designs are already selected for the entire fronts on two of the public squares; from these drawings it is proposed to erect two centre and four corner buildings as soon as possible after this lottery is sold, and to convey them, when complete, to the fortunate adventurers, in the manner described in the scheme for the Hotel Lottery. A nett deduction of five per cent. will be made to defray the necessary expenses of printing, &c. and the surplus will be made a part of the fund intended for the National University, to be erected within the city of Washington.

The real securities given for the payment of the Prizes, are held by the President and two Directors of the Bank of Columbia, and are valued at more than half the amount of the lottery.

SAMUEL BLODGET.

The Philadelphia, Alsion, and Tuckerton

MAIL STAGE.

THE proprietors beg leave to inform the public, that they have established a Stage between Philadelphia, Alsion, Batsto, Hampton, Speedwell, and Martha Furnace, Wading River slitting mill, and the town of Tuckerton, in New-Jersey, to go once a week, and are provided with good horses, a comfortable carriage, and a careful driver, for the conveyance of the mail, passengers, and goods. The Stage will start every Thursday, at 10 o'clock, A. M. from Mr. Daniel Cooper's Ferry, and lodge that night at Joel Bodine's, at Longacoming; and on Friday at 6 o'clock, P. M. arrive at Caleb Evans's, inkeeper, in Tuckerton, distant from the city 54 miles, (from the Atlantic 6, and from the East Grousing Plains 7 miles) where are good accommodations for travellers, and where are commodious and safe passage boats provided to convey passengers to Capt. William Warrington's house, on Tucker's Island, adjoinining the Atlantic, where are good accommodations, and a convenient place to bathe; the sportsman who wishes to regale himself with fowling and fishing, may at this place be highly gratified, there being at almost every season of the year fowl and fish in abundance.—The Stage on its return, starts from the aforesaid C. Evans's in Tuckerton, every Tuesday, at 6 o'clock, A. M. breakfasts at John Bodine's, at Wading River Bridge, lodge that night at Longacoming, and at 1 o'clock, P. M. on Wednesday, arrive at the aforesaid Cooper's Ferry. It is presumed that no route of an equal distance will be less expensive, or furnish the traveller with a greater variety of amusement, as he will not only have a pleasant sail to the atlantic from Tuckerton, but have the curiosity of seeing on the road thither a number of capital furnaces and forges, and one slitting mill, in complete order, and at work; gentlemen, too, who are owners, or factors, of any of the aforesaid iron works, are solicited to encourage and support this stage (by which they can be so well accommodated) the continuance of which will much depend on their aid. The rates of passengers and baggage are as follows: For a passenger from the aforesaid Daniel Cooper's Ferry to Tuckerton, including 14 lb. of baggage, Two Dollars; for way passengers per mile, Four Cents—150 lb. of baggage equal to a passenger. Postage of letters, newspapers, &c. will be agreeably to law.

N. B. The mail crosses from the Old Ferry.

THOMAS WARDLE & Co.

Tuckerton, Sept. 28. Oct. 5.—2awtf

The Norfolk Mail STAGE.

THIS Stage starts from the GEORGE Tavern, at the corner of Second and Arch Streets, in Philadelphia, every Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday, at 3 o'clock, in the morning; arrives at Dover the first day, at Snowhill the second day, at Northampton Court House the third day, and on the morning of the fourth day the passengers find a safe and comfortable packet to convey them to Norfolk.

A packet leaves Norfolk for Northampton ferry, every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday, and the Stage starts from this ferry for Philadelphia, every Monday, Wednesday and Friday; puts up at Snow Hill the first night, at Dover the 2d night, and arrives in Philadelphia in the evening of the third day.

The distance on this route, between Philadelphia and Norfolk, is 80 miles less than on any stage route between those places.

Too much cannot be said in favor of the road, which is most excellent indeed. The proprietors willingly engage to return the whole fare to any passenger, who, after having performed this route, will say that he ever travelled in a stage for the same distance, so good a road in AMERICA.

PEALE's MUSEUM.

THIS valuable repository of the works of Nature, so well calculated to delight the mind and enlarge the understanding, is opened daily, as usual. It stands in an airy and healthy situation, and free from the epidemic that at present afflicts the city; it may, therefore, be frequented with the greatest safety.

As an Amusement, the study of Nature is the most rational and pleasing: as a Science, the most sublime and instructive. It elevates the mind and expands the heart. They

"Whom Nature's works can charm, with God himself
"Hold converse."

Many interesting additions have lately been made to this Museum: and the feathered tribe, containing a variety of the most rare and beautiful subjects, is now very advantageously arranged. Waxen Figures, of Men large as life (some of them casts from nature) are here dressed in their proper habits, and placed in attitudes characteristic of their respective nations. Here may be seen the North-American Savage, and the Savage of South-America—a laboring Chinese, and the Chinese Gentleman—the sooty African, and the Kamtschadale—with some Natives of the South Sea Islands. The immense variety and interesting diversity which this Museum offers to the view, may be seen but cannot be described with full effect.
